

Here on Anguilla, We Embrace a Flip Flop State of Mind

“Aruba, Jamaica, ooh I want to take ya, bermuda, bahama, come on pretty mama, key largo, montego, baby why don’t we go.”

It’s certainly no secret why the Beach Boys, and so many others, fell so deeply in love with the Caribbean. What is a secret, one that the Beach Boys never discovered, is that the most spectacular beaches in the Caribbean are on the small island of Anguilla. Even if they had known, “Anguilla” doesn’t quite rhyme so effortlessly into the song. Thankfully, since there aren’t any world famous songs about Anguilla, the magnificent beaches remain pristine, serene, and uncrowded.

Of course, Anguilla’s beach perfection hasn’t gone wholly unnoticed. Travel bloggers, Caribbean enthusiasts, travel polls and more, have declared Anguilla’s beaches to be the best in all the Caribbean, time and time again. U.S. News Travel voted Anguilla’s beaches the “best beaches in the Caribbean,” attributing it to their silvery sands. Shoal Bay, one of Anguilla’s legendary beaches, was voted number one out of “Top 10 Caribbean Beaches” by the Travel Channel. Though there’s quite the plethora of reasons why Anguilla’s beaches are incredible, three reasons in particular are very compelling.

33 and They’re All Free

That’s right, though this splendid island getaway boasts some of the most posh Caribbean beach resorts, there isn’t a single beach that’s not open to the public. Anguilla is a paradise that welcomes all of its visitors, and encourages them to explore every inch of its silvery sand beaches.
